MONTREAL, July 15.—The flying armada from faraway
Italy, under General Italo Balbo, took off from here today for Chicago on the final triumphant leg of their 6, 100-mile mass flight.

The black ship of General Balbo, leading the varicolored 24 seaplanes, rose gracefully from the waters of the St. Lawrence river at 11:15 A. M. (EDT.)

The others, at intervals of several minutes, followed their commander into the air falling into set formations.
Their motors roared away into the west.

Ambassador In Plane
Augusto Rosso, Italian ambassador to the United States, accompanied General Balbo in his plane.

A twenty-mile-an-hour breeze swept the river as the seaplanes in slow rotation took off. The haze which had previously misted the river disappeared.

Conditions along the 870-mile route were reported as favorable.
The aerodrome was expected to run into some rain in the region of Detroit where an escort squadron of

PA NEW OBSERVES

Last night as Chief of Police Haven was strolling about Cascade park, one of the guests at a picnic there, a little, dirty faced urchin, followed his dignified physique about with admiring eyes and another man in the group asked the younger if he knew who that was,
and right off the bat, the little fellow said, "Yes, that's Roosevelt."

Today is St. Swithen's Day—with its legend of rain or dry weather for the next forty days.

Men from the city engineering division spent most of yesterday measuring Cochran Way and its tributaries. They were getting together data that may be used in the improvement program which is soon to be launched.

The South Carolina license plates with the words "the iodine products state" on them, never fail to attract interest. Pa New saw a car bearing those plates on North Mill street last evening.

A rather refreshing book title for this kind of a day is "A Book of Salads," a new volume Pa New no-

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Crea-

Neither Attorney General Cum-

LEHIGH CEMENT PLANT RESUMES ON MONDAY

W. H. Kleckner, manager of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, announced today that the plant would resume operations Monday morning, July 17, at 7 o'clock. With the resumption of the plant, an idleness of seven months comes to an go back to work.

About two weeks ago Mr. Kleckner got orders to prepare the plant for resumption and it was thought that it would get under way by July 10.
Repairs were made but it was impossible to get the coal they wanted on time and the start was delayed.

No new men will be employed, Mr.
Kleckner stated, only those men who have worked for the company bewill operate day and night, but no statement was forthcoming as to the length of the run.

Blazing Oil Tanker Goes Down In Atlantic

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Blazing fiercely, the oil tanker Cities Service Petrol bound from Port Arthur, Tex., to Bayonne, N. J., sank by the stern early today about 100 miles off Cape Lookout, Va., carrying Capt.
F. L. Sears and two members of the crew to death, according to radio messages received by the Radio-marine corporation here.

Thirty-four members of the crew of the tanker were picked up by the tanker Gulf Gem, the messages said, and are being taken to Charleston,
S. C.

The Gulf Gem radioed that Captain Sears, true to seafaring tradition, refused to abandon his vessel.
Names of the two seamen could not be learned and the messages indicated they had perished in the flames which enveloped the sinking tanker.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 15.—Do you remember some of the statements before the London conference started? The world was to stop revolving, air was to lose its oxygen, if the conference failed.

Herriot of France said,
"America and France look with a like purpose on economic problems; the conference must succeed."

Cordell Hull really waxed dramatic, "The failure of the conference will mean the failure of statesmanship. Selfish-

Well, the thing has flopped

The funny part about it is that all of those statesmen makes itself and the statesmen just drag along.

Code For Steel Industry Filed By L. P. Lamont

President Of Iron And Steel

Steel Industry

CODE SETS HOURS; INCREASES WAGES

Public Hearing To Be Ar-

tures Of Code

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—
A code for the steel industry today was filed with the industrial recovery administration by Robert P. Lamont, president of the iron and steel institute which represents approximately 90 per cent of the steel ingot output of the country.

The code fixes a maximum of 40 hours a week, bans child labor and provides a minimum of 25 cents an hour in southern territory and 40 cents in all other districts for common labor.

Raise Of 15 Percent

All other classes of workers will automatically receive a horizontal raise of 15 percent over their present wage.

The code states that no specific control of production is regarded as necessary because the industry feels the elimination of unfair practices will automatically correct any over-production.

PRESIDENT DELAYS 35-HOUR WEEK ORDER

Final Decision On Action Near

Voluntary Action Of Industry Is Still Awaited By Roosevelt

ORDER TO FORCE ACTION IMMINENT

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 15.—President Roosevelt today held in abeyance a decision on proposals for a blanket 35-hour week and minimum wages for industry as a new burst of cooperation by employers caused some of his aides to hope that the drastic step may be avoided.

The President is expected to make a final determination of the policy he will pursue to whip lagging industries into line under the industrial recovery act during his week-end cruise on the Potomac river.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial recovery administrator, was engaged in making a new quick survey of the attitude of industrial industries on fair codes of competition. This survey will be laid before Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow.

An appeal to the nation for voluntary cooperation to speed the formation of industrial codes, with short work weeks and minimum wages, apparently had been abandoned by Mr. Roosevelt.

Prepared To Act Unless he is convinced that industry and labor voluntarily will make a success of the industrial recovery act, the President is prepared to use to the limit his power of compulsion.

A proclamation calling for a 35-hour week for common labor, a 40-hour week for "white collared" help and a 45-hour week for executives, is expected to be followed by use of the President's power to enforce industry.

While legal aides of the administration were considering the stoppage of the President to declare the stoppage work week, the chief executive believed that the chief executive can make his order effective only through his licensing power.

Announcement that the cement manufacturers had decided to invoke a 36-hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour pending adoption of a code of fair competition was hailed by Johnson's aide as a real sign of cooperation.

The rayon and silk industries asked to come under the cotton textile code pending formation of their own code.

The cotton textile code, expected to provide additional jobs for 100,000, becomes effective on Monday.

Consider Agricultural Situation The President canvassed the agricultural situation today, with secretary of agriculture Wallace and assistant secretary Rex Tugwell, members of the "brain trust," as his guests aboard the yacht.

A more pleasant picture was presented to the President. "Cotton Week" was pronounced a huge success, with cotton farmers agreeing to destroy 9,000,000 acres of this year's crop. The estimated production on this land is 3,500,000 bales as against a 3,000,000 bale goal, the land being more productive than the average.

Wallace was expected to lay before the President his proposal to license the milk industry, launch a campaign to reduce wheat acreage, and extension of the processing tax to corn and hogs.

Meantime, the president had given the cabinet board of public works specific orders to speed up projects made possible by the $3,300,000,000 public works bond issue.

By use of the president strove to halt the usual summer slump in business.

The monetary commission yesterday, after sharp controversies between the non-gold powers led by the United States, and the gold bloc headed by France, reached the same conclusion.

The economic subcommittee will report that it was unable to reach any accord because some delegates, meaning the French and their Allies, insisted upon a declaration in favor of immediate currency stabilization which the United States opposed.

Others, including the United States, suggested that the subcommittee outline a program to be carried out when stabilization was achieved. As a result no unanimity could be achieved.

The report will merely condemn restrictions on trade and excessive tariffs in general fashion and will favor retention of the most-favored-nation principle under existing conditions.

Deadly Pest, Sweeping West, Hits Pennsylvania

An army of termites which has done $50,000,000 damage in recent months in New York State is sweeping westward, has attacked Philadelphia and adjoining counties, and is moving on. The ant-like pests ravage anything that is destructible. The photos show damage done to books and shoes in invaded homes, and what was left of a piece of wood after an attack. The destructive jaws of the four different termite types are shown in the greatly enlarged heads illustrated here. (Central Press)

Notice of a public hearing on the code will be issued next week, Johnson said.

The code will be administered under the American Iron and Steel Institute which represents virtually the entire industry.

The mayor advised him that the officers did not have to take his abuse and that any officer that took sass from such as he in the future and under the same circumstances would be taking a ten day vacation without pay.

He discharged Hamilton however, with instructions not to return under the same conditions, unless he expected to pay dearly.

Plan For Picnic

DELIGHTFUL EVENT AT KEAGY RESIDENCE

One of the most delightful and unique musical entertainments of the season was that presented last evening by the Fireside String Ensemble sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton D. Keagy at their residence, 4 West Glenmore Boulevard. More than three hundred people were present.

The guest and assisting artists were Mrs. Clinton D. Keagy, who sang most beautifully to specially arranged accompaniments by E. E. Branstetter, director of the ensemble, and Delbert Fletcher, who is a baritone of marked ability.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by a large group of young girls. The members of the Ensemble participating were: Violins, Michael Caruso, James Callahan, A. W. Bergstedt, Gilbert E. Long, also business manager; Cello, Melvin Bassett; and Piano: E. E. Branstetter, director.

What Kipling would have termed as "the everlasting" teamwork of every bloomin' soul" made the ice cream and cake social given last night by the New Castle Civic Clubs a glowing success.

They joined hands last night, the Quota, Jr. B. P. W., Kiwanis, B. P. W., Lions, Phalanx and Wolves clubs and with the co-operation of the people of New Castle gave a festival at the Cathedral which has had no equal this season. It was a financial success and will mean that the boys and girls of the Crawford Oakridge home will have complete playground equipment with which to make their days more enjoyable.

Between 400 and 500 people were served ice cream and cake. They enjoyed fishing for prizes in the "fish pond," they had their fortunes told by "The Marbles" (Martha Bigley), heard radio music and the sum total of the evening was "a good time for everyone."

The lobby and piazza of the Cathedral were decorated in gala festival colors for the occasion.

Each of the civic clubs took a prominent part in the arrangements, with Mrs. Elizabeth Williams as general chairman.

G. P. Club

The G. P. Club members were the guests at the home of Mrs. Anna Costello of Pearl street yesterday. Plans were discussed regarding a picnic to be held soon, and pastimes were found in dancing, music and games.

Little Anna Feola of Ran- kin gave a number of vocal selections as a special feature. She with Rose Gennello, Josephine Tofano, Anna Gennello and Julia Larzo were special guests.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mary Vasclette.

Mrs. Lillian Alfrea will entertain at her home in Ellwood City at their next meeting.

Birthday Party

Walter Gross and daughter Mary Elizabeth entertained the members of Section C of the Y. L. B. class of the Third U. P. church Friday evening at a lawn party in honor of Mrs. Gross, whose birthday was being celebrated.

The guests presented Mrs. Gross with a shower of handkerchiefs during the evening. Games and music were the entertainment and a delicious lunch was served by Marjory Lindsey and Margaret Howe.

Mrs. I. M. Howe and daughter Margaret were special guests.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Brus of East Brook announce the engagement of their daughter Helen Louise to Allen D. Gettig, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gettig of Ellwood City.

LOOKS TOWARD LATIN MARKETS

ONE of the apparently inevitable aftermaths of the London Economic Conference, which at the present time gives little hope for restoration of world trade, is a stronger policy of nationalism at Washington and, at the same time, a more searching analysis of world markets with the hope of discovering a field that has been slighted during the paralysis of international trade.

Hints from Washington indicate that the administration may concentrate on the development, or rather, the reawakening of the Mexican, Central and South American markets inasmuch as the commerce doors of Europe are seemingly locked and barred for some time to come. Of course, the general trend of lower prices has affected totals to an extent, but the fact remains that whereas the United States' trade with Mexico, Central and South America amounted to $2,080,000,000 in 1929, it shrank to $575,000,000 in 1932.

The republics to the south still demand manufactured goods which the United States has to export and this country needs a lot of coffee, rubber, bananas, sugar, cacao, wool, casein and linseed, all of which can be imported from the south.

The next Pan-American Commercial Conference, to be held at Montevideo, probably some time this year, may develop into a very important economic conference with new tariff agreements between the United States and Mexico, Central and South America. The situation, at least, has its possibilities and bears watching.

A SHOCK IS COMING

It is entertaining to conjecture what the reaction will be when the east begins to realize the Good Samaritan role it has been cast for.

Will New York enjoy contributing nearly 40 per cent of the 400 million dollars road fund and receive only 22 million dollars of it? How will Pennsylvania like to donate its 100 million dollars while it receives only 18 million dollars?

The east will know that a new day has dawned indeed when it figures that Texas alone, while a small contributor, will receive 24 million dollars of the fund and that the combined contributions of all the western and southern states is far less than that of New York—The Idaho Statesman (Boise).

REDISCOVERED U. S. A.

All those expatriates, said to be flocking back to America because their money no longer goes so far in France as it did formerly, bore us a little and might well annoy the French people considerably.

Fifteen hundred of them, it is estimated, have left Paris since January. At that time there were 13,463 in Paris, about half as many as were there immediately after the war and until about 18 months ago. They began trickling homeward then, and have been at it ever since.

Isn't wistfully a selfish procedure, perhaps, though it is easy to remark cynically, "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home," when the exchange rates are unfavorable.

REVIVING STATE TOURIST INDUSTRY

In line with the general upturn in business the "tourist industry" has taken on new life, a survey by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, A. A. A., reveals. Motor clubs throughout the state report the biggest seasonal rush of tourist travel and requests for vacation routings since 1930.

The P. M. F. estimates that at least $75,000,000 will be spent in this state by motor tourists during 1933.

Thousands of Pennsylvanians are motoring to the World's Fair in Chicago, according to the reports of local clubs, but the Century of Progress exposition is not wholly responsible for the tourist rush. New England, Canada, Niagara Falls, the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee, the Jersey Coast, the Eastern Shore of Maryland, the Poconos, state camps and other places in Pennsylvania are coming in for a goodly share of the motor trade, the survey indicates.

There are indications on all sides that the tide has turned in the "tourist industry" as well as in other lines of business. This is being reflected not only in increased travel, but in the sale of new cars, in the purchase of motor club memberships and in numerous other ways. Travel costs, including car expense, hotel rates, meals and other items are very reasonable this season and many people are taking advantage of this.

VALUE OF HEALTH

Turning for a moment from his scientific investigation to philosophy, Thomas Edison once concluded that of all the mental, material and spiritual blessings available to man his first choice would be good health.

He was not one to want health merely for health's sake. He looked upon good physical and mental health as only means to an end. They were among the indispensable resources of his own genius and achievement. There are many ideals greater than perfect health for man to strive for, but it opens the way to most of them.

Few men afflicted with chronic illnesses depriving them of the full use of their bodies and minds have achieved greatness. There are outstanding cases like Alexander Pope, Robert Louis Stevenson and Milton, but they are few. While it has been argued that these men were greater because of their afflictions, that does not refute the proposition that poor health is an insurmountable obstacle to most men and women who would succeed in a worthwhile way.

Deserving of much credit are the blind who in spite of their terrible affliction become productive and self-supporting. They are doers who are showing the seeing world that blindness need not end the usefulness of those who refuse to quit.

"Health is a deity presiding over the affairs of men."

CATALOGUE OF BEAUTY
Many things my heart remembers with delight, and among the things that I find beauty these may be found:

A slim green snake wriggling through the garden with his thin red tongue forking before him.

The voice of Pauline Lord, warm and thrilling; the cool beauty of Alma Gluck's singing.

An eagle soaring high above the rocky hillside, free and strong and aloof.

The silky coat of a thoroughbred Irish setter; the cockishness of a wire haired terrier; the snootiness of a chow dog; the inquisitive dogginess of a small boy's mongrel.

A page out of Willa Cather's writing.

Frosted roofs in the full moonlight; the thin curve of a new moon after sunset, golden as a slice of Persian melon.

A football player, standing in his backfield, steady, relaxed, watchful, waiting to throw a forward pass while the opposition drives fiercely upon him.

A single figure on a brown field, plowing after a rain.

The splendid show that nature gives in the autumn, in those places where the green leaves turn to scarlet and yellow and gold.

A small pale blade that is forcing itself through the dark brown earth in the spring of the year.

A hummingbird poised above a flower, little eyes flashing, a pulse throbbing, throbbing, throbbing in his ruby throat.

An old weathered rock on the hillside; an old face of a man, with the story of the years written plainly upon it.

An equation, by Einstein, intricate and involved and a mystery to me, but reminding me of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Euclid alone has looked on Beauty bare."

These, these, and many, many more.

CLUB MEMBERS

Undoubtedly it is hard for you to be obliged to withdraw from the club you most enjoy, because financial conditions make it impossible to keep up dues.

But foolish it would be to try to keep up when the non-payment of club debts is dictated by your necessities.

Probably in your flush years you joined too many organizations.

You wanted to be classed as member but you could not be regular in attendance at any of them.

Even in the years of general prosperity you spent too much on dues. If you had been sensible you would have saved enough in the amounts you paid in dues and initiation fees to make it possible for you now to keep up with demands of your favorite organization.

But you are now paying the penalty of poor judgment.

Better one club in which you stand for something as a member, than a great many in which you stand for nothing but the dues you pay.

However there are other ways to find enjoyment than through clubs. You might spend a little more time with your family, helping them to be happy and more contented through your companionship.

Don't get to the place where club membership means everything to you.

Drinking and Driving

If you want to drive, don't drink; if you want to drink, don't drive.

If you indulge too freely at a party, don't try to drive home. Let the completely sober member of your party, if any, do the driving. Or, better still, take a taxi cab.

Remember that if you are arrested for an accident or a traffic law violation, and there is evidence that you have been drinking, the penalty is likely to be much more severe than it otherwise would be.

Drinking and driving make a dangerous combination. SPT

Down many a road—and many a crooked lane, And know Life is a thing of tears and smiles,

The sudden summer darkness will drop down And I shall turn—and see Death standing there.

The shadows will be very deep that night, But O, I trust I shall not be afraid Perhaps Death carries in his hand a light—

These are the things for which I long have prayed— And looking in his face—that I shall see

The one friend who had walked the road with me. —Selected.

Industrial Codes Declared Indispensable To Recovery

Cotton Agreement Held Up As Example To Other Interests, With Warning Against Allowing Present Gains To Retard Planning

Public interest in the hope of the administration that codes like that adopted by the cotton industry will be established in all other forms of production is keenly shown at present. It is observed that, on account of the progress toward recovery, some representatives of industry have been slow to take advantage of the provisions of the recovery laws, and warning is given that such a course, if continued, will be dangerous. It is also agreed by some observers that the government has the power to compel adoption of codes.

"The cotton textile industry," says WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "has set other industries a good example." The Star also advises as to the general situation: "It is true that there have been signs of recovery, with wheat and cotton prices soaring and mills beginning to operate at full time. But that recovery has not been due to anything that industry itself has done. It is equally true that had there been no such signs of recovery these industries would in all probability have been clamoring for the immediate and full operation of the Recovery Act. The danger is that the improvement in conditions in industry may be temporary; that with a huge production—and some of the plants have returned to the 1929 output already—without a much greater employment and development of the purchasing power of the country there will be another collapse. Another collapse would be far more serious than the three years of depression which have gone before. That is something for industry to consider if it is planning not to cooperate with the government at this time."

"Having put its hand to the plow," according to the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN, "the Roosevelt administration does not intend to draw back. It appears that the first sign of obstruction or reaction. In this sense, Donald Richberg's authorized speech before the Merchants' association of New York City may fairly be interpreted. The Industrial Recovery Act gives the president great powers and, according to Mr. Richberg, the president will use them to the full. 1099—What is known as the First Crusade ended with Jerusalem's capture, after a siege of five weeks, by an army of 200,000 led by Godfrey de Bouillon, a Belgian, who refused a kingly crown, became instead "Defender of the Holy Sepulchre." Actually the first crusade was the "Peasants' Crusade," which represented the first stirring of the common people in European history. (Wells calls it the birth of democracy.) The eight principal crusades, and numerous other expeditions called crusades, were conceived by Pope Urban II and incited by Peter (Gautier) the Hermit and other preachers who incited strangely like those disseminated so effectively by the British propagandist corps in maneuvering the U. S. in the war against Germany. Four disorganized multitudes totaling 275,000 persons, started for Palestine. Two of the mobs blundered into Hungary, mistook the converted Magyars for pagans, committed atrocities, were massacred, and a third, after a pogrom of Jews in the Rhineland, was similarly destroyed in Hungary. The other, led by Peter the Hermit himself, was massacred by the Seljuk Turks. These mishappenings in the "People's Crusade" incited the vast expedition called the First Crusade after conquering Jerusalem, the followers of Godfrey de Bouillon wanted to hasten home with the rich booty taken from the Turks. He was left with a small force, he died (or July 18) the next year, Jerusalem again fell into Turkish hands, a succession of Crusades (of which more anon) followed.

England operator, estimates, will just about double labor's wage receipts as compared with 1926. In South Carolina this means increased purchasing power and better working conditions—the code provides for a 40-hour week—for a large number of its citizens.

"There is only one course for the administration in the event that important industries prove consistently non-cooperative," declares the HAVESILL GAZETTE, "and that is one of compelling them to do what they should be doing voluntarily. Fortunately, the act gives the administrator the power to bring recalcitrant industries into accord with the purposes of the act. The power of public opinion should be effective also. We are on our own now, as we never have been before, and effective cooperation to improve our economic state is essential."

"A certain percentage of every industry," avers the DANBURY NEWS-TIMES, "thrives by pauperizing the human material, making conditions which the able men in the same industry have to follow. These, paying wages that were barely a pittance, imposed upon others in the same line the necessity of paying lower wages. Thus purchasing power of many thousands was decreased to a vanishing point. This class of industrialist will be forced out. He will be rebellious and he will have to be dealt with, according to the maxim of the president, 'that a business which cannot pay a living wage has no right to exist.'"

Another class of industrialist, scolding business in a revival, supposes that the good times will return unaided, and begins to array himself against the new deal. But the larger sort of men see clearly that this new production is mainly an anticipation of the better day ahead. Stocks are being put in while all the conditions make for low prices.

The CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST agrees that "industry will be able, through the provisions of the Recovery Act, to establish standards that were impossible under restricted competition." The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL suggests that "it is the hope of Gen. Bessie that national recovery will be actually at hand by the time any suit against the recovery officials has been fought through the courts."

With a tribute to President Roosevelt as "a strong figure," the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL says of this problem: "The greatest danger to managed industry by a political plan is inability to divide national income to effect economic equilibrium of all major factors. The administration of the Recovery Act appreciates the importance of this problem, and consequently stresses higher returns to labor before higher prices for goods, as well as higher prices for basic commodities and farm products before higher prices for finished articles."

The gift also comprises Duyckinck's books and his valuable collection of Yale Memorabilia, including the Class Cup, presented to him by his classmates in recognition of his long and faithful service as Class secretary. These latter items have been placed upon exhibition in the rooms of the Sterling Memorial Library set aside for the preservation of Yale Memorabilia, while the other items have been separately featured as a memorial to the Class of 1865.

"Among the other articles in the collection is a badge known as the 'Order of the Seraphim or of the Blue Ribbon.' The precise antiquity of the badge cannot be ascertained, but tradition assigns its founding to King Magnus, 1280. The ancient statutes and insignia are equally known. The earliest example of the badge is a description of it at the time that Charles IX abolished the original order.

"The badge is an oval medal, enameled blue, and encribed with the name Jesus in gold between four small black and white nails. It is attached to a golden collar, embossed with cherubim's great-grandfather, gold maltress crosses. It is worn with a star silver badge, containing the motto—Jesus Hominum Salvator. The habit is of white satin, faced in black, round black velvet hat, with four white and one black feather, black satin, white lined mantle, the latter being repeated in a doublet, and a ribbon of royal blue."

Another item in the collection is a bit of cable. In 1857, President James

Coal Operators Agree On Code

Preparations Made For Biggest Battle Yet On Industrial Recovery
Code

HOPE TO MERGE CODES MONDAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 15.—Preparations for the biggest battle yet to be fought over trade agreements under the national industrial recovery act were completed when the northern bituminous coal operators finally agreed this morning on a code after an all night meeting.

The northern operators include the Mellon and Rockefeller interests and are entirely non-union. When they merge their code with that of the southern producers in Washington next week they will have a code representing 75 per cent of the nation's tonnage.

Code Is Filed.
J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company and temporary chairman of the northern coal control, newly organized for the purpose of code making, said today that the code already filed in Washington with the recovery act administration was a code of the union mines located primarily in Illinois and represented only between 15 and 20 per cent of the annual soft coal production.

On Monday the directors of the Northern Coal Control meet with the organization of their competitors, the Smokeless & Appalachian Coal association, the newly formed south central coal group, in Washington to merge their codes. The southern group also is non-union.

The Northern Coal Control represents all Pennsylvania, Maryland, 12 counties of northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio. This section in 1929 mined about 39 per cent of the nation's tonnage. The Smokeless & Appalachian association includes southern West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

Sunday School Classes Asked To Assist Army

Funds For The Appeal Are Slowly Growing Toward Ultimate Goal

A special plea is made by Ensign
Fred Goddard of the Salvation Army for the Bible and Sunday school classes of the churches of the city to remember the appeal of the Army for funds on Sunday. Anything that the classes, as well as service, fraternal and civic organizations can and will do to assist this most worthy cause will be appreciated.

The campaign funds secured to date are nearing the $500 mark and there are prospects of sufficient to materially increase this in the next few days.

Due to the summer vacation season, the number of solicitors is smaller than usual and the work of canvassing for funds is slow. Those desiring to give the Army a lift and have not been solicited, are asked to send their gifts to Ensign Fred Goddard at 133 Water street or to John D. Kennedy, treasurer, at the People's Savings & Trust company.

IF YOUR WAGES ARE REDUCED

Say, At $1.00 Per Week
You will still live as a lot of people have done the last three or four years, and on a greater reduction than that.

Some people who had savings accounts were better able to live than those who did not have.
Think this out.
Why not be thrifty enough to put at least $1.00 per week at interest out of your pay the first thing just as if you never had received it and then when the next lean days come as they always have, you will have something to "fall back on."
"Good times" and "hard times" follow each other like day and night.

Rochester Man Not Remorseful For Killing Son

Robert J. Simington, 50, Sits
In Jail Cell And Discusses Chloroform Murder

HAD INTENDED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., July 15—Fear that his 14 year old son could not care for himself alone today was given by Robert J. Simington, 50, unemployed railroad draughtsman, as the reason he snuffed out the boy's life yesterday with chloroform at their Rochester home.

There was no feeling of remorse on the part of the confessed man as he sat in his jail cell today and told of his family life and the killing.

Feels No Remorse
"So far I'm not sorry," he said. "I think I saved the boy a life of suffering. I did the best I could."

Simington failed in an attempt on his own life after he had killed his son and walked into the Beaver police station to give himself up. He told police then:

"Look me up. I've just murdered my son."

The sad father had intended to take his own life because "there was no place left" for him and told police the dead boy, Burton, was the only one of five sons who could not have cared for himself.

His own attempt at suicide failed because he had not had any "experience" he told police.

Y. W. C. A. Pool To Be Emptied Today

The outdoor pool of Camp East Brook is to be emptied of water today.

Several hundred girls have used the pool since it was filled on the first day of June, most of whom were girls of 8 to 14 years of age who attended the Y. W. C. A. camp from June 12 to July 8.

That new train built to do 90 m. p. h. is made short so that a flyover aiming at the locomotive will just miss the tail end.

Beaver Council Stops Trolleys

Barricade Goes Up Against Trolleys As Result Of Paving Argument

INJUNCTION WILL BE ASKED TODAY

(International News Service)
BEAVER, Pa., July 15—A repetition of the "battle of machinery" between Beaver and a traction company serving the borough several weeks ago was staged here today.

The last war was the consequence of the car company's refusal to heed an order of Beaver officials to repair rocky streets along their tracks.

Today it was another street repair argument. Borough council directed the Steubenville-East Liverpool and Beaver Valley traction company to repave its mile and a half right of way from Vanport borough to the Beaver railroad station.

The traction firm said a dearth of revenue makes it impossible to proceed with improvements at this time. Council's answer was the issuance of orders for a police barricade at the entrance of the company's lines into Beaver. The blockade was composed of a police car and huge logs dragged across the tracks. Passengers were compelled to complete their trips via bus.

Meanwhile counsel for the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley traction company prepared to petition to the county court for an injunction against borough officials to prevent them from hampering the service.

New Development In Alton Kidnaping

"Good News Has Been Received" Announcement Of Friends

(International News Service)

ALTON, Ill., July 15.—"Good news has been received" and there will be an announcement later this morning Lawrence Keller, Jr., and Orville S. Catt, agents for the Luer family in negotiating for the release of August Luer, 77-year-old kidnaped banker announced this morning.

Luer today had been in the hands of kidnapers more than 100 hours.

ALTON, Ill., July 15.—Relatives of August Luer, 78-year-old kidnaped banker, indicated today that they believed two ransom notes purportedly from the abductors, are from interlopers seeking to obtain money under false pretenses.

Friends declared, however, that "the wish is father of the thought" and that the family of the aged and wealthy man greatly fear that the kidnapers may be trying to collect a ransom for a dead man.

The family broadcast through newspapers a demand that a note in Luer's handwriting accompany the ransom demand. No note was received with either communication.

Luer was suffering from serious heart attacks, and his sons feared that the excitement of the abduction might have proved fatal. Members of the ransom committee appointed by Luer's three sons to negotiate with the kidnapers, refused to reveal the contents of the ransom notes.

Herman Green Wins Junior Golf Championship

New Castle Field Club Golfer Wins At Greensburg, Pa.

Local Well Known Junior Golfer Hands Defeat To Tourney Favorite W. B. Nicklin

First Time Junior Title Of Western Pennsylvania Has Ever Come To New Castle

Herman Green, sensational young New Castle field club golfer, is the new western Pennsylvania junior golf champion today, and wearing a broad smile. Green played a magnificent game at Greensburg Country club course yesterday afternoon to defeat William B. Nicklin, Mercersburg Academy student and a golfer from Stanton Heights at Pittsburgh. Green's margin was 2 and 1. Green arrived home late last night and was given a fine welcome by the members of the New Castle Field club who will probably accord him further honors.

It's the first time that a New Castle golfer has ever won the junior championship. In fact it is the first time, in our recollection, that a New Castle golfer ever won any kind of a championship. We've sent some fine golfers to the past junior title matches, including George Trainor and Billy Long, but they did not get to the championship.

Played Fine Golf. It took young Herman Green, a Notre Dame freshman golfer, to show the way to a fine field. Green won from C. M. Jamieson of Greensburg, Francis Gould of Indiana and Paden Gamble of McKeesport for the right to meet Nicklin. Nicklin's best round was against I. C. Ball of Churchill Valley, the medalist. Incidentally, Green shot two 39's on the first nine at the tricky Greensburg layout, and would probably have had a fine 18-hole total had the holes been played to the finish.

In ascending to the championship Green wears the toga that was held last year by Billy Marks of Kiski and now at Princeton. Marks is over 18 and not eligible for the tourney.

Green has been shooting quite consistent golf at his home course, the beautiful New Castle Field club course, and was a "dark horse" of the junior tourney, but as he was comparatively unknown in competition golf, was not accorded much chance of defeating Nicklin. Gamble or Ball, but that dogged determination to win pulled Green thru after he had lost the first two holes of the first nine.

The members of the Field club are hoping that Green will go on from the junior championship and continue his sensational golf, probably playing for the state junior title, if there is such a thing; the state amateur next year and anything else. New Castle feels proud to have a fine young golfer, maybe another Johnny Goodman, who knows. Here's hoping anyhow, Herman.

Herman Green, the new champion to you, is the son of Adolph Green, prominent New Castle banker. Green spends his winter months pouring over Notre Dame studies. In the summer—well, he plays golf a good bit and Nicklin says he plays too much and too good.

Launch Sports At Camp Fred Rentz

On Thursday the organized sports commenced at Camp Fred L. Rentz, and the Braves, mighty camp team, swung into the lead of the baseball league, and the Senators ranked high in the mushball division.

In mushball the Senators beat the Pirates, 12 to 3, and the Braves also came through with a 12-6 win over the Athletics. In baseball, the Braves won also with a 12 to 6 score while the Senators were upset 7 to 3.

Beside the regular swimming the boys took a dip at night. The boys are now building a dam out of stones and trees.

After dark, a campfire was held. Parents' Night occurred on Wednesday.

Legion Of Honor Golfers To Meet

Will Attempt To Settle Differences On Golf Links Monday Evening

In spite of the fact that they outplayed their opponents last Monday, Statistician R. Burrows Melvin, of the Legion of Honor Golf League after considerable figuring determined that Sweeney's Swashbucklers were one-tenth of one point behind Chapman's Cavaliers at the conclusion of the match, the mean average figuring out that way, and the Swashbucklers are out to avenge the affront to their dignity.

At least, dire threats have been made by Captain Sweeney that his men will out-average Chapman's ball-toppers, in addition to out-scoring them, when they meet again on Monday evening at the Municipal links.

Senators Are Slipping Fast

Chicago White Sox Again Defeat Washington And Go Into First Place Tie

PIRATES LOSE TO BOSTON 4-3

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Punch-drunk and staggering from the brutal beatings given them by the Chicago White Sox, the stymied Washington Senators today turned their backs to the wall to fight for the leadership in the American league. Cracking under the strain of recently winning 15 out of 16 games and apparently suffering from mid-summer staleness, the Nationals flopped like a flipped pancake before the Chicagoans again yesterday. Walter Miller, veteran left-hander, turning them back with three measly singles. The 4 to 0 defeat put the Senators into a virtual tie for first place with the rejuvenated New York Yankees.

Due For Slump. Washington's slump may continue for a few days, but the Yankees can't keep on winning the rest of the summer and it may be the Washington-New York series in Washington on July 27, 28, 29 and 30 and the Senators-Yanks tilts here Aug. 7, 8 and 9 will be the deciding factors in the heart-tugging battle. The Yanks went wild and clubbed St. Louis pitchers for 12 hits, including homers by Chapman and Dickey to grab it, 11 to 6. It was the fourth straight win for the New Yorkers over the Missourians and the Yanks' seventh triumph in a row.

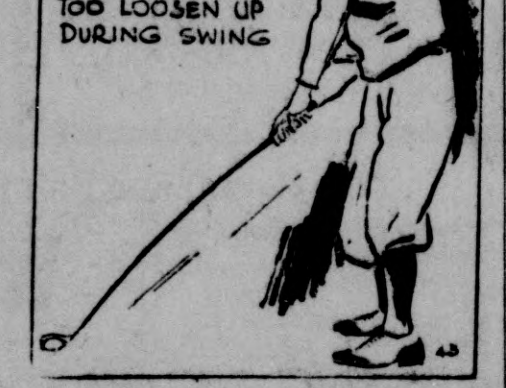

Hits rattled like skeletons in Hollywood closets as the New York Giants downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 7, and lengthened their lead in the National circuit. Dizzy Dean for St. Louis and Freddy Fitzsimmons, the Giant, couldn't stand the gauntlet and their successors did little better with the Giants garnering 15 hits and the Cards 16. For the first time since July 16, 1932, the Dodgers won a game from the Chicago Cubs in Chicago, the Bruins handing them the tilt with costly errors, 5 to 3. Four of Brooklyn's runs were unearned and they were outlived 12 to 8.

Pirates Defeated. Rabbit Maraville singled in the tenth to drive in a pinch-runner, Gyselman, to triumph the Boston Braves over Pittsburgh, 4 to 3. Bing Miller's home run in the eighth inning with two men on accounted for the Athletics' 3-2 whipping of Cleveland. Dick Oliver, the A's sandlotter, who walked five, was the winner over Cincinnati only five hits blanking the Reds 6 to 0. Detroit won from Boston's Red Sox, 8 to 3. Tommy Bridges allowed the Bostonians seven safeties.

Phrenologist.—That bump on your head, sir, shows that you have an unusual amount of curiosity in your make-up. Subject.—Yes, that is true. I got it when I struck my head into an elevator shaft to see if the elevator was coming up, and I found it was coming down.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON
Central Press Association.

"Anything to shake off that terrible tension! That's the everlasting worry of the golfer. But all the will power in the world won't loosen up tight muscles and joints if the player doesn't do something to back up his wish to be free in his movements. Using a club with a flexible shaft is one way to cultivate looseness in your wrists and forearms. You'll find, when you near the end of your backswing with this kind of a shaft, that, instead of tightening up you'll be encouraged to keep in action by the willow-like action of the club. Make several swings with a whippy shaft and you'll find that your whole swing becomes smooth-er."

Municipal Team Of Pittsburgh Will Play Here

National Championship Entrants Will Meet Local Players At Muny Course

On July 23, a group of the outstanding Municipal Links players of Pittsburgh will come to New Castle for a match with the outstanding players of New Castle, which will be played on the Muny Course here. Manager William G. Fleming announced this morning.

In the group from Pittsburgh, will be Kaufman, National Municipal Links champion for the past three years; S. W. Phillips, champion of the Pittsburgh Municipal Links, the state's champion left handed golfer and the champion and former champion ladies of the Pittsburgh courses.

There will be twenty men and two women in the group, and they are making the trip here in preparation for the coming National Municipal championship in order to acquaint themselves to strange courses.

Manager Fleming is now selecting the team which will oppose the Pittsburghers and expects to have among the group, Herman Green, Western Pennsylvania champion, of this city, who won his title at Greensburg yesterday.

League Leaders Have Tough Row In Golf League

Coming Matches Between Leading Teams Will Test Ability Considerably

From now until the close of the season on August 3, life is going to be anything but a bed of roses for the three leading contenders in the New Castle Golf League.

This week found Blair Strip Steel meeting Reynolds, Summers and McCann in the feature match, while East Side Service hooked up with Shenango Tin.

Next week's feature matches will find Reynolds, Summers, and McCann playing East Side S. S., while Blair Strip Steel meets Legion of Honor, both at the Municipal course. Although the Legion of Honor team has not made the showing expected of them at the start, the losses have been principally due to defaults rather than poor playing. More than 16 points have been lost by the team through inability to get their players out. If they have their full strength out next Thursday, they are apt to make the going tough for Blair Steel.

The final games of the season will find Blair Strip Steel contending with East Side S. S. and Reynolds, Summers, and McCann meeting Legion of Honor.

The race this year has been most interesting, and the competition should increase during the next three weeks.

Monarchs To Play Volant

Orrs Bait Tigers And Polish Play Against Bessemer

WEST PITTSBURGH AT CASTLE FLATS

And now that the Tigers-Mahoning titular fever has passed off the second half race in the Lawrence County loop can go on without fear of interruption. When the Tigers-Mahoning fourth tilt was set for last Thursday it caused a shunting back of several games. Those which were postponed must be played next week, it is said.

Today's schedule calls for the Monarchs to play Volant at Volant. The Colored Monarchs have a neat team, according to fans. Before the second half started they made a trip, it is said, to surrounding towns and signed the best colored players to be had. Several Volant players, especially hurlers, have a lot of stuff.

West Pittsburg, which has lodged a protest against Nick Caney's Mahoning team, will oppose the combined Castlewood-Clifton Flats team at Clifton Flats, which has a strong aggregation. Mahoning beat West Pittsburg by a small margin a few days ago.

Orrs will take on the Tigers on the Lee avenue field and the Bengals being somewhat disgruntled because they lost Thursday will try strenuously to take over the Orrs. No doubt they will try to win the second half in an effort to prove their claim that the best team lost the titular game of the first half. The Polish will go to Bessemer to play the Hedbergmen, a sweet ball club.

Killifer Will Manage Boston

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 15.—Bill Killifer, manager of the St. Louis Browns, will manage the Boston Red Sox in 1934, replacing Marty McManus, it was reported here today.

Before leaving here for Washington with St. Louis, Killifer admitted he would not return to the Browns next season.

St. Andrews Wins At Ellwood City

St. Andrews mushball team won at Ellwood City Thursday evening defeating the strong Ellwood Millers 7 to 1, with Small pitching a fine game for St. Andrews and allowing only five hits. After the game the Ellwood players gave the St. Andrews players a fine treat and entertainment.

Jefferson Sluggers baseball team handed the Fardale Stars a 17 to 11 defeat last evening at the B. & O. Field. The stars for the winners were J. Zingaro, J. Scungio, B. Pagley, J. Pezzone, and G. Forciani. The Key-stones will be the next game for the Fardales.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Ralph Flanagan, 15, churned the waters in 21:12½ to win the national title and break the former national mark of 21:27 held by Buster Crabbe of Stanford university in the national amateur outdoor championship held at Chicago.

Pennsylvania amateur golf championship is to be settled when Harold S. Cross, Jr., and Will Gunn, Jr., meet at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia.

Charles D. Werner, assistant track coach at Illinois since 1927, has been named head track coach at Penn State college, according to word from Hugo Bezdek to the Illinois coach.

Steve Hannas of New York and Johnny Risko of Cleveland will meet in a 10 round bout at the Cleveland stadium, July 25.

Correct this sentence: "I know the stars use this beauty cream," said daughter, "because that ad in the movie magazine said so."

Yet courtship would break up as marriage does if one party persisted in discussing his liver.

Observations In 7th Ward

Dressed up in attractive coats of brown and black paint and equipped with new tires, the trucks of the state highway department look none the worse and perhaps a little better after their scorching experience in the fire which broke out several weeks ago in the East Cherry street garage.

Pinhole observations: bucket of yellow paint spilled over a section of the sidewalk on East Cherry St. . . young North Cedar street man wearing slave chain on wrist. . . cement seats and bird-bath being set up on Liberty street park much to interest of crowd of youngsters. . . man in railroad station with bags covered with stickers from St. Moritz, Cairo and numerous Mediterranean ports. . . six men assisting street sweeper in replacing bolt in wheel of push cart.

So far there has been just one report of ripe tomatoes. This came from a young lady of South First St. There are a lot nearly ripe—but not quite.

Circus Arrives Early; Has Many Features

VIOLETTA, DAINTY BALANCING ARTIST

Charles Sparks that veteran manager and a native of Western Pennsylvania arrived in New Castle with his Downie Brothers Circus early this morning, in fact long before mother had time to call father to take the kiddies to the circus grounds to see them unload and put the big canvases in the air.

It's a gala day for New Castle for they can look forward to a real circus treat.

In presenting Downie Brothers Circus this season Mr. Sparks has put forth his best endeavors and has succeeded in giving the public the best circus performance of his circus career and that extends over forty years.

The parade over a mile long was enjoyed by hundreds of people. It was marked with pretty girls, prancing horses, open cages of wild animals, elephants, camels, jingling music and clowns. It looks like capacity tents for both afternoon and night at the circus.

In the Downie Brothers program we find that Mr. Sparks has brought back that feature act that Grandma and Grandpa often spoke about, "The Leaps" and today it is received with greater applause than it was in days of old.

On the program we also find such well known acts as the Riding Hanford family featuring "George" the riding fool, a truly wonderful act with a wonderful comedian Miss Violetta the only girl in the world offering a head balancing spinning act, Theresa Morelas that sensational and daring heel and toe catching Miss from Old Mexico—The Gonzolas Sisters, who astound you with their daring feats—The Morelas family doing their daring slide act from the peak of the canvases to the center ring. The Butters Troupe of wire artists composed of dainty Misses and one boy, Ella Harris and her herd of trained elephants—Allen Houser and his wonderful horses. The above are just a few of the many head line acts seen with Downie Brothers Circus today, daylight saving time.

Tonight's performance will start at 8:15 and the doors open one hour earlier to allow you time to see the large collection of wild animals.

Governor Denies Strike Accusations

Declares Dr. Northrup's Assertions
Concerning Activities
Are Ridiculous

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 15—Charges made by Dr. A. M. Northrup, Wilkes-Barre in his resignation as secretary of the state department of labor and industry that department employees are fomenting strikes were regarded by Gov. Gifford Pinchot today as "ridiculous."

In accepting Dr. Northrup's resignation, which becomes effective August 1, Governor Pinchot defended the department and its method of handling strikes. He took particular exception to the accusation that "strikes in Pennsylvania have increased more than 400 per cent comparing the first three months of 1933."

"The charge that any employee of the department of labor and industry has been fomenting strikes is ridiculous," Governor Pinchot asserted. "The department has done more recently than ever before to prevent and settled strikes and has been cooperating closely and effectively with the federal government. Industrial unrest, which is worldwide, cannot be properly laid to its door."

During his two and a half years as secretary of the department, Dr. Northrup stated its appropriations "have been cut 37 per cent or $678,000 mainly due to the activities of Miss Charlotte E. Carr brought here from New York to assume the duties of deputy secretary."

The governor said he regretted the terms in which Dr. Northrup submitted his resignation and has not reached any decision on a successor.

Reaching for the very choicest orchids today, if the boy prefers orchids, we're tickled pink to toss them in the direction of Champion Herman Green, the junior golf champion of Western Pennsylvania. Battling against the cream of the crop in Greensburg he knocked them off one at a time until yesterday he walked off with the crown.

And it isn't just the fact that he won the championship that gives us a large smile of satisfaction. It was the way he did it. In the final round he stepped into some fast company and before he got himself oriented he was two down. For the first time out in that sort of company it wouldn't have been surprising had he gone under.

But he didn't and that's what makes champions. With the going tough, with the smart boys agreeing that this youngster Green was in for a shelling, Herman went to work on his opposition and pulled the game out of the bag two up and one to go. It's the stuff inside that does it. Anybody can play good golf if he will take time enough to practice. But playing good golf when there's a crown at stake, and the crowd is rooting for the other fellow, and when you're back of the game, what's the championship golf and I hope Champion Herman Green likes orchids.

There was a day, just yesterday it seems, when a little bit of a tad used to trail around with some of us on the golf course. He was just big enough to swing a club and he was always wanting to know how you did this and that. Now that the "I Knew Him When Bus" is about to start, mark us up for a front seat.

Got a very nice letter from a lady in Enon Valley today, a lady by the name of Martha Zahner. She verifies what we have suspected but couldn't prove exactly. The young lady says that whip-poor-wills do not wait until late summer before they start their singing. That they tune up early in the summer and continue until late in the fall.

Out in Enon where she lives, there are a lot of whip-poor-wills she says and they go into a concert every night. And so the informant who told us that they didn't sing until late summer was wrong.

The lady suggests that he might have mistaken whip-poor-wills for katydids, who blossom out shortly before frost, but the W. P. W's do their stuff all summer through. And the letter is appreciated, especially the very kind references at the beginning of it. Thanks; and any time this column cracks off in the wrong key, say so.

Circus today. From six to ninety six the virus is in the blood and those youngsters are you going to borrow to have an excuse for going down and seeing the elephants perform?

Dear Brother Lion:
In the summer of 1932, a youth of New Castle, by the name of Jack Cole, pedaled across the states to the Pacific coast on his bicycle and returned.

Mr. Cole will be with us next Tuesday to tell us about the trip.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
